SECTION 10: Additional Link Building Tactics

1. HARO (Help a Reporter Out)

What: Journalists post queries; you respond with expert quotes and get backlinks.

URL: helpareporter.com

Cost: Free

Time: 15-30 min/day

How to Use:

1. Sign up at helpareporter.com as a "Source"
2. Receive 3 emails daily with journalist queries
3. Filter for marketing, events, business topics
4. Respond quickly (within 2-3 hours) with expert quotes
5. Include your credentials and company link

Topics to Monitor:

- Marketing and advertising
- Events and meetings
- Small business
- Entrepreneurship
- Customer experience

2. Client/Partner Link Requests

Request backlinks from:

- Clients' vendor/partner pages
- Venue partner directories
- Event sponsor acknowledgment pages
- Industry association memberships

3. Broken Link Building

1. Use Ahrefs or SEMrush to find broken links on event industry sites
2. Create content that could replace the broken link
3. Contact webmaster offering your content as replacement

4. Resource Page Link Building

Target resource pages on:

- University event planning programs

- Convention center vendor lists
- Trade association resources
- Event planning guides

5. Scholarship Link Building

Create a small scholarship ($500-$1000) for marketing students. Universities link to scholarship pages, providing .edu backlinks (highest value).

6. Data/Survey Link Building

Conduct original research/surveys and publish findings. Examples:

- "State of Experiential Marketing 2026" report
- "Brand Ambassador Industry Salary Survey"
- "Event Marketing ROI Benchmarks"

SECTION 11: Content Calendar

Consistent content creation attracts natural backlinks and improves rankings.

1. Clutch Review Request

Subject: Quick favor? 15 min to help AirFresh Marketing

Hi [NAME],

Hope you're doing well! I'm reaching out because we're building our presence on Clutch.co and would be honored if you'd share your experience working with us.

The process is simple:

- I send you an invite through Clutch
- A Clutch analyst calls you for 15 minutes
- You share honest feedback about our [PROJECT] work

Your review would help other companies find us. Would you be open to this?

Thanks!
